WELCOME

"The Commonwealth is delivering as a network for trade and investment for both business and government, and CWEIC is proud of the pivotal role it plays in facilitating this..."

In 2024 CWEIC celebrated its 10th anniversary, and we are proud of what we have achieved in our first decade. From our beginnings as the Commonwealth's newest start-up organisation, we have grown into a cornerstone of the Commonwealth family and a powerful global voice on trade, investment, access to finance, the environment, and climate change, among many other critical issues for the Commonwealth and its business community. A decade ago, we recognised the need for a Commonwealth business organisation to represent the views of the private sector, but the positive reception and strength of our membership has exceeded even our greatest expectations.

As we look back on our first 10 years, we are proud to have organised multiple trade missions, made hundreds of key introductions for our Strategic Partners, and brought together nearly 6,000 organisations at more than 250 events, including four Commonwealth Business Forums. Through these successful partnerships, initiatives, and continued support from Commonwealth member countries, we now welcome over 130 Strategic Partners to our network. In 2024, we expanded our international presence to three more countries and regions. We are now represented in 13 countries and territories, including Nigeria, Ghana, Kenya, India, Sri Lanka, Malta and Cameroon, Gabon, and Togo each of which is led by a dedicated Country Director or Strategic Adviser. We plan for further growth of this essential network in the Commonwealth and beyond over the coming year.

CWEIC continues to grow from strength to strength, and today we are widely recognised as the Commonwealth's accredited business network. We owe the resilience and tenacity of our network to the valuable and beneficial relationships we have built with our Strategic Partners over the years, and we take pride in the work we do. CWEIC provides tangible support to Commonwealth businesses and countries, helping them showcase opportunities to a global audience of businesses and investors, explore new markets, and influence global dialogue on key economic issues.

The message has never been clearer; the Commonwealth is delivering as a network for trade and investment for both business and government, and CWEIC is proud of the pivotal role it plays in facilitating this. In 2024, we hosted the first Commonwealth Business Forum (CBF) in the Pacific since 2011, held in Apia, Samoa. Through our active outreach, CBF 2024 brought together 15 Heads of Government and Ministers, over 500 delegates from 40 countries, and offered an exclusive platform for Strategic Partners to shape the global dialogue on trade and investment. We will build on this success as we continue discussions with the Government of Antigua and Barbuda to host the next CBF in 2026.

In 2025, as we develop our events, delegations, and trade mission programmes, while responding to direct requests for support from Commonwealth Governments, our mission remains clear: to expand our operations to more Commonwealth countries and create new opportunities for our Strategic Partners.

Times are challenging, the world is more unstable, and the global outlook more uncertain than in recent years, however, the Commonwealth still represents growth and opportunity.

While more countries look inward, with protection on the rise and the threat of tariffs and trade wars, there is a real opportunity for the Commonwealth as a market to put itself at the heart of global trade. CWEIC will play a key role in this, presenting the Commonwealth as the opportunity it is.

We are the perfect vehicle to help you explore both the Commonwealth's emerging and developed markets, demonstrate your thought leadership as we address critical global issues, and network at the highest levels of business and government.

A GLOBAL NETWORK

The Commonwealth is a global network of 56 countries and 2.7 billion people, 60 percent of whom are under 29 years old.

Often described as a 'Family' of Nations, the Commonwealth spans every geographical region, religion, and culture. Now over 70 years old, it is home to some of the world's largest and smallest nations, including both advanced economies and developing countries. The Commonwealth exists to foster international co-operation and trade links between people all over the world.

Every two years, leaders of Commonwealth countries meet to discuss issues affecting the Commonwealth and the wider world at the Commonwealth Heads of Government Meeting (CHOGM). His Majesty King Charles III is Head of the Commonwealth. His commitment to the Commonwealth throughout his life has taken him to every region of the Commonwealth and to 46 of its 56 nations. His dedication to the environment, sustainability, and conservation has echoed throughout his many Commonwealth tours, and his recognition of the private sector as a driver of change is demonstrated with the establishment of his Sustainable Markets Initiative and Terra Carta in 2021.

The King has always been a strong advocate for the unique power of the Commonwealth to bring people together and unite under their shared values. CWEIC was honoured to welcome His Majesty to the Commonwealth Business Forum in Samoa in his role as Head of the Commonwealth for the first time.

The Commonwealth has members on the UN Security Council, two members of the G7, five members of the G20 and representation in every major regional economic group in the world.

THE COMMONWEALTH

People

The Commonwealth boasts a population of 2.7 billion, with 60 per cent under the age of 30. It is home to a billion middle-class consumers.

Economy

The cumulative GDP of Commonwealth nations in 2022 amounted to US$14.2 trillion, with projections indicating a rise to $20 trillion by 2029. The Commonwealth comprises 40 per cent of the global workforce and hosts half of the world's top 20 emerging cities.

Ease of Doing Business

The Commonwealth benefits from well-established trade partnerships and collaborations. Member countries share a common language, democratic principles, and a strong commitment to the rule of law, which make it a conducive environment for smooth business interactions. Member countries enjoy reduced trade barriers and streamlined regulatory frameworks, contributing to the ease of doing business within this dynamic and diverse international community.

Climate Change and Sustainability

33 of the Commonwealth's members are small states, and 25 are Small Island Developing States (SIDS), which are among the most vulnerable to the impact of climate change or developmental challenges. The Commonwealth is an advocate for change, giving each state an equal voice.

Shared values

The Commonwealth is built on shared values and supported by historical, cultural, and sporting links. Research underscores the considerable advantages these factors provide for trade and investment. The similarities in business practices, commercial norms, and legislative frameworks significantly reduce the cost of doing business across the Commonwealth, making it an estimated 21 per cent more cost-effective when compared to non-Commonwealth markets. These shared values and cultural ties also promote mutual trust and understanding among Commonwealth nations, creating a conducive environment for collaboration and fostering resilient, long-term business partnerships. This unique ecosystem bolsters the Commonwealth's appeal as a hub for economic exchange and growth, facilitating prosperous business ventures and investments.

We call that the Commonwealth Advantage.

The Government of The Bahamas has been a Strategic Partner of CWEIC for three years. During this time, we have participated in two Commonwealth Business Forums, in Rwanda and Samoa, and have clearly witnessed the strength of CWEIC's network in action. As the Government of The Bahamas looks to expand its offering to international investors, we have called upon CWEIC to convene panels of experts to help develop our relationships. CWEIC's network reaches into expertise from the City of London, international businesses, and multilateral institutions – the convening power of the Commonwealth is an extraordinary thing to witness.

The Commonwealth Business Forum (CBF), is the highlight of the Commonwealth business calendar. Held every two years alongside the Commonwealth Heads of Government Meeting (CHOGM), CBF welcomes Heads of Government, Ministers, and global business leaders for networking and dialogue aimed at facilitating trade and promoting investment across the Commonwealth.

CBF is not just a platform for dialogue and discussion; it also serves as a vital space for tangible, innovative, and practical solutions to emerge. CBF's true strength lies in the valuable connections it cultivates, the new relationships it fosters, and the exposure it provides for Commonwealth opportunities on a global stage, attracting the attention of businesses and investors worldwide.
